ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR DENIS EDWARDS'

Workshops on

JESUS AND THE NATURAL WORLD

Associate Professor Denis Edwards is a priest of the Catholic Archdiocese of Adelaide. He lectures in ecological theology at Flinders University and the Catholic Theological College of South Australia. His areas of interest are Trinitarian theology, Christology, pneumatology and ecological theology. He is the author of many books and articles including his latest book, Jesus and the Natural World.

Fr Edwards' presentations will explore the links between God's creation of the universe and our faith in Jesus. He will encourage us to see that getting involved in work to protect the earth is an essential part of our commitment to being followers of Christ.

He will present two workshops in five locations in the Archdiocese of Brisbane – the first exploring the links between creation and our faith in Jesus and the second looking at the Eucharist and the call to ecological conversion.
